Historic™ Antique Polyurethane Finish

Distinguished by their high solid contents for that extra build characteristic, the Historic™ Antique Polyurethane Finish Series from Historic Floor Company offers unmatched quality both aesthetically and functionally. These VOC compliant, oil-modified polyurethanes have a long open time that eliminates streaking and lapping. Extremely versatile, these finishes can be rolled, lamb-wool applied, brushed or T-bar applied with a Padco® type applicator.

Additionally, these polyurethanes have excellent flow rate, self-leveling and flexibility characteristics and are regarded for having unbeatable hardness as well as solid film properties. Combine these features with reliable drying and anti-bubbling agents and you will recognize why these Antique Polyurethane Finishes from Historic Floor Company are the choice of both flooring professionals and do-it-yourselfers. That's why Historic Floor's Antique Matte Polyurethane finish was recognized in 2005 by Early American Life Magazine.

Now in available in (4) sheens, Antique Semi-Gloss, Antique Satin, Antique Matte and Antique FLAT, these finishes are manufactured with the purest resins available, and feature crystal clear, deep penetrating, amber-tinted, non-yellowing protective poly-coating. Whether formal, rustic or something in between, Antique Polyurethane Finishes from Historic Floor will have you covered.
